DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 3/20/2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 25-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Losada (6,273,316).

With regard to claim 25, the reference of Losada discloses a fastener assembly feeding system (Fig. 11A) for use with a power actuated gun (10) comprising: a fastener assembly (318, 336) comprising a curved plate (318), the plate having a raised portion (see Fig. below) and a stud (336) frictionally held within the plate (318) at the raised portion, the curved plate (318) further having an attachment leg (see Fig. below) angularly attached to the curved plate (318), the attachment leg having a free edge (see Fig. below) away from where the attachment leg is attached to the curved plate (318); a track (316) adapted to receive the curved plate (318), the track (316) shaped to conformed with the curved shape of the plate and to closely receive substantially all the curved plate (318) on both sides of the raised portion as shown in Figure 11A, except at the raised portion of the plate where the stud is held within the plate, the track (316) also being shaped to closely receive the plate (318) where the plate joins with the attachment leg (see Fig. 11B), but not shaped to closely receive the plate at the free edge of the attachment leg as shown in Figure 11A; wherein a plurality of fastener (318) assemblies are guided along the track (316).

With regard to claim 26, the fastener assembly of Losada further includes a groove formed on the plate (see Fig. below) and track (316) shaped to conform with the groove of the plate (318).

With regard to claim 27, the fastener assembly feeding system of Losada includes the curved plate (318) formed with an extending portion (see Fig. 11B) and the track (316) is shaped to conform with the extending portion of the plate (see portion of track 317).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 28 and 29 are allowed over prior art of record.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art of record fails to disclose a fastener assembly having a plate, the plate having a raised portion and the raised portion of the plate having a groove formed within the plate.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 3/20/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

With respect to claims 25, applicant argues that Losada '316 track (316) does not accommodate a "curved shape" which conform with curved shape of the plate as called for in claim 25.

The Examiner contends that the track (316) is clearly shaped to accommodate the curved plate (318). Therefore the disclosure of Losada meets the claim 25 as rejected above.

With respect to claim 26, applicant argues that the curved plate has a "raised portion", such that the "groove" of claim 26 must be considered a different element.

The Examiner contends that the claim called for a groove, and the track is shaped to conform with the groove of the plate. The claim is clearly met by Losada disclosure.

With respect to claim 27, applicant argues that the curved plate has an "attachment leg" such that the "extending portion" of claim 27 must be considered a different element.

The Examiner contends that the claim called for an extending portion, and the track is shaped to conform with the extending portion. The claim is clearly met by Losada disclosure.
